Prexy Building Plan Aims at $40 Million

President Johnson recently assailed the Health, Education and Welfare Department's decision to deny appropriations necessary for the immediate continuation of Howard's building program. He was appearing before a House Appropriations sub-committee in connection with the budgetary cut when he advocated the necessity for removing the seven remaining campus temporary buildings as soon as possible.

Six of thirteen temporary buildings have already been torn down, and Dr. Johnson informed the sub-committee that the remaining ones are deteriorating rapidly. According to the Star, Committee Chairman Fogarty stated that, "They have stopped your program right in its tracks as far as this budget is concerned."

Dr. Johnson also released the following long-range building plan:

1. A Physical education building for women.
2. A women's residence hall, because the University has now reached the limit of its space in supplying dormitory facilities for women students.
3. A classroom building to be used by the College of Liberal Arts and Graduate School. While the University is well equipped for the physical sciences, it needs facilities for the humanities and social sciences.
4. A Student Union building to aid in public order and morale.
5. A women's gymnasium.
6. A warehouse service building. The president said by buying for a whole year instead of piecemeal, this would save large sums for supplies.
7. A men's dormitory, because here again the limit has been reached in facilities in this field.
8. A social work building.

According to Dr. Johnson, the completion of this plan will entail a $40 million plant investment here. Presently, the Home Economics building and the Men's Physical Education building are being planned; but no funds are yet available for construction.

New Men's Dorm Presents First Men's Weekend

Residents of the New Men's Residence Hall at Howard University were hosts to their fathers at a Men's Weekend, Friday through Sunday, April 24-26. Scheduled activities included an open house for parents and other visitors, 2:00 p.m., to 5:00 p.m., Saturday, April 25, followed by an awards banquet in Baldwin Hall at 8:00 p.m.

The dormitory, which was opened in September, 1958, to 304 freshmen students, is located at Fifth and Gresham Place, northwest. The building has not been named or dedicated.

Track Team Spikes Colleges in Pentagonal Meet

Clayton Glasgow (far right) edges Ben Amos (American U.) to win the hundred yards dash and help boost Howard's victory thrust in the recent pentagonal meet held in the Howard stadium. Alwyn Rose (far left) leaves pole vault bar standing at 11 feet.

Frosh Clocks 440 In 50 Seconds

by Percy Johnston

Howard piled up 62 points to win its pentagonal meet of April 18 at the Howard Stadium. Ted Charbers' mentored trackmen scored points in every one of the fourteen collegiate events of the meet — including 8 victories, 4 seconds, 2 1-2 thirds and 5 fourth place finishes. Second place was taken by American U with 36 and third by Gallaudet College's 35 with Mount Saint Mary's College in fourth with 18 and Montgomery Junior College of Silver Spring, Md., failed to score.

Edward Moody provided one of the meet's outstanding individual performances when he ticked off a 50.2 quarter-mile. Later this same freshman joined Leo McGarrity, Robert Griffin and James Alston to produce a 3.29.7 mile relay, a race in which the blue & white clad quartet was never threatened.

Clayton Glasgow dusted American U.'s top sprinter, Ben Amos, in the 100, but Amos got revenge in the 220 final when Glasgow, who had turned in the best time in the trials, was able to do no better than third, only a step ahead of teammate Tony De Grasse.

After losing the mile by several yards, Gene Tildon came back to take the two mile run with ease; from the gun there was never any doubt about the outcome. Perhaps more thrilling than the Bison distance star's victory, was Lynch of Mount St. Mary's unsuccessful attempt to wrest second place from Tildon's freshman teammate, Hugh Bourne.

ALSTON TAKES HURDLES

Captain James Alston, established himself as the area's top low hurdler when he whizzed over the 220 hurdles in 25.2, which was the best time any D.C. college hurdler recorded that Saturday.

Leo McGarrity was pressed hard on the final curve by Wood of Gallaudet, but the veteran Bison, who spends his summers racing for the Falcon Club (dueling teammate James Alston), was able to ease away from his adversary. Close on the heels of the two front runners, finished Robert Griffin.

Other Howard point makers include: Charlie Williams (high and low hurdles), Reed (440), Sterling Parker (2nd in shot put), Henry Ingram (discus), Richard Braxton (tied for 3rd in high jump), Frank Baker (1st in broad jump), Alvin Rose (broad jump), Noel Carr (2nd in pole vault).

In a race billed as an invitational 440 yd. relay, Howard's twelve top sprinters formed 3 teams and provided the onlookers with a race which was far greater than its 45 seconds winning time indicates. Though it had no effect on the team scoring, it did give the community a chance to see Howard's speed merchants give a sneak preview of the Howard Relays.

BETA KAPPA CHI ELECTS 41

The Howard University chapter of Beta Kappa Chi Scientific Honor Society held its induction ceremony and banquet on March 24, 1959. Forty-one science students from the Chemistry, Zoology, Physics, Mathematics and Home Economics Departments, and the School of Engineering and Architecture were honored. This group was by far the largest ever inducted into the society. Following the induction ceremonies, there was a banquet in Baldwin Hall Dining Room. Dr. Louis Hansborough, Ph.D., Professor of Zoology, was the speaker.

Mercer Daniel Speaks At Usher's Banquet

By James T. Dixon

The Ushers of Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel held its annual banquet in the faculty dining room on April 10, at 6:00 p.m.

Mr. A. Mercer Daniel, faculty advisor, was the main speaker. Mr. Daniel defined service as being that which is given freely and duly self-imposed. "It is in the area of extra-curricular activities that the refining process takes place, giving to your academic training a finishing touch necessary for the educated person." Mr. Daniel also pointed out that there should be only two goals in life which are self preservation and service to others.

Teddi Austin, Mary F. Banks, Bettie Mitchell, Avis Y. Pointer, Bernice L. Thomas, and Judith E. Whitted were presented two-year achievement keys.

The Chapel Ushers is entirely a voluntary group. The officers are Tennyson Etuknwa, president; Weston Diggs, vice-president; and Avis Pointer, secretary.

Tennyson Etuknwa, after receiving his Masters Degree in Economics, will be leaving for his home in Nigeria.

DELTA SCHOLARSHIP OFFER

Alpha chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is searching for a Freshman girl to be an applicant for the Delta National Scholarship. The only stipulation given is that the applicant must now be a non-scholarship student. All Freshman girls who are interested should contact JACK-IE PRICE, Box 358, Frazier Hall.

Ida Smith, sophomore in Liberal Arts, from Manhattan, N.Y., received the scholarship from the funds raised at the Jabberwock in the Spring of 1958. Ida is and economics major, and is majoring in mathematics in preparation for position after graduation as a statistician.

HOWARDITES LISTEN ATTENTIVELY. Shown above are some of the 200 H.U. students who took part in the April 18 Youth March for Integration held downtown Washington. Jointly sponsored by the NAACP and the National Student Association. The march was attended by some 20,000 students. Some travelled from Texas and from California to join the historic event which began at the corner of 7th St., and Constitution Ave. and ended at the Washington Monument (in background). The March began at 2 p.m. and lasted all afternoon through a series of speeches highlighted by the report of four students who were delegated to take a petition to President Eisenhower. Guests included African leader MBoya, Harry Belafonte, Jackie Robinson, and Detroit Congressman Diggs.

Integration Is Your Responsibility

The HILLTOP congratulates the 200 Howardites who proudly took part in the historic Youth March for Integration, held on April 18. Regardless of the views that have been expressed in favor of or against the efficiency of a march of this nature, the HILLTOP maintains that such a show of strength on the part of tomorrow's citizens cannot fail to make an impression on today's leaders and molders of public opinion. 20,000 high school and college students from all sections of the country were in attendance.

The struggle for desegregation is not a struggle for intermarriage, or for forced entry into the social or political cliques of the out-group. It is a struggle for fair opportunity to attend the school of one's choice (given satisfaction of economic and academic requirements), for unbiased treatment in the law courts, and for unbiased evaluations of job applications. It is a struggle for an opportunity to increase significant contributions to the welfare of mankind, for an opportunity to increase one's life chances in accordance with rights guaranteed by the Constitution. In the light of this, a show of strength by the nation's youth is certainly calculated to reflect the tenor of opinion among those who will be making tomorrow's decisions.

Once again, we must remind you that the tremendous responsibility to prepare yourself for free competition in a changed society rests squarely on your shoulders. Indeed, the ultimate test of desegregation and of integration will be what the youth of today will create out of the augmented possibilities in a new world. The decision is yours. Face up to it.

To Have and Have Not

While this may sound like the same old tune to some, we must repeat that Howard's athletic facilities compare unfavorably with the facilities of local high schools.

The varsity cricket team was the most recent victim of this deplorable state of affairs when it was forced to postpone its season opener, scheduled for Howard "stadium" on April 18th with the Staten Island (N.Y.) cricket club.

We are not asking for an eighteen hole golf course. We are asking for tennis courts, a baseball diamond, and an auxiliary field where the football team and soccer team can practice, which can be utilized for cricket, R.O.T.C., and field events. We are also asking for a field house where our basketball, wrestling and indoor track teams can practice and perform.

We feel that this is too little to ask for our athletes who perform for the pure love of the sport and for Howard. We feel that this is too little to ask for our coaches, all of whom carry full teaching loads, all of whom work with a bare minimum staff.

Students Seek Greater Autonomy

(ACP)—Stories of students seeking more genuine power over their own activities appeared in several college papers last month.

Student leaders at University of Texas, for example, complained to administrators about what they called "Victorianism" and "oppressive" policies.

DAILY TEXAN quoted the University's vice-president and provost, Dr. Harry H. Ransom, as saying, "This may well be a completely new generation of students... students willing to assume great responsibility; if this is so, then perhaps we should re-evaluate our administrative position and give students more responsibility."

He urged a study be made to determine how students could have perhaps more policy power in the University community.

University President Logan Wilson agreed the study deserves consideration, adding, "The deans might well be delighted to see students assume more responsibility."

According to the DT, students said that everything from flats against kissing in front of dorms to unrealistic policies against staying out late for academic functions are inhibiting. A coed leader asked if students could have more "direct authority" as some students do, mentioning a school where women decide their own hours.

Dr. Wilson stressed the need for students to be "left alone" as well as "helped."

"I'm sure you wouldn't want the deans' offices dictating all elements of student life, would you? There's a ticklish job."

Maturity of N.M.R.H. Residents Questioned

Since it is exasperating to oppose infallibility, I do not wish to join the band-wagon of those who are criticising the policies of the director of the N.M.R.H. Further, I am not proposing to support the naive and recalcitrant behaviour of the residents of the N.M.R.H., since they are finding adjustment difficult. Neither will I express disdain for those members of the tutorial and advisory staff who complacently allow the minority of its members to carry the heavy burden of defending a principle which they also advocate.

I wish to appeal to the residents of the N.M.R.H. to assume those responsibilities that accompany the highly coveted appellation "college student." I am exhorting them to protest in an organized and rational way against the alleged injustices to their maturity. The recent furor was caused by the vocal complaint of residents who allege that they are victims of injustice. If these residents expect to have their complaints recognized by the administration, they must employ formal methods of airing them. This means:

1. Writing well-reasoned letters.
2. Presenting your case to the proper departments in a group which is representative of your opinions, and
3. Proving by your behaviour that the rules are unnecessary. This is behaviour characteristic of mature college students. This is meeting the responsibility of your position.

But question is to be raised about the degree to which you manifest behaviour characteristic of mature college students. Is the willful breaking of chairs and tables, the destruction and abuse of recreational facilities, childish pranks which might lead to injury, willful breaking and looting of vending machines, mature behaviour? These exhibitions of vandalism are detrimental to the very case which you are trying to establish.

The assumption of a name by a person does not make that name applicable to that person until he also assumes the responsibilities of the position that the name implies. It is this failure to assume such responsibility that the students of the plush "U" are guilty of, and it is for this reason that the complaints of the residents of the plush "U" have met defeat.

If the residents of the New Men's Dorm, want to be treated like the men they think they are, they must begin to act like the men they think they are.

Impressions of Howard University

by Loretta Gotch, Whittier College

As an exchange student I have been asked by many students my impressions of Howard and the reasons I participated in the exchange program. This short article is written frankly and personally with the understanding that the reader will realize that these are just a few personal impressions and observations on a general level.

At the onset of the semester it was difficult to make a really objective statement about Howard. Everything was too favorable. After three months as a student here I feel that I have gained a more critical opinion and can give you a few comparisons between Whittier College and Howard University.

The largest difference lies in the sizes of the schools. A larger school offers much more in the way of cultural activities and social life. Yet, at a smaller school such as Whittier, activities are more school-wide and everyone goes to the really "big" events of the year. At this point I will say that fewer students in proportion to the size of the student body at Howard take advantage of all that is offered.

The complacency that exists on Whittier's campus and other campuses exists here also. Few students are informed and concerned about the world situation and national problems. I am somewhat surprised that this blaze attitude is in excess in the nation's capital. So many students haven't seen the historical and history-making points of interest while going to college here for two and three years.

However, I have found many students at Howard who are aware of this situation and are very much opposed to this trend. Yet, these are the students who on every campus, pull the crowd along, hoping that they will grow up and see the light.

Academically, I find that there is less stress by Howard students to learn. If you can study, fine; but why not wait until the night of the exam? If you pass, that's what is important. On Whittier's campus another extreme exists. Making good grades takes priority over learning and application of the material presented.

Whittier has a working student body. The majority of students work around ten hours a week; whereas, I have found that a minority of students have part-time jobs at Howard. More students are economically dependent on their parents at Howard while many students at Whittier will earn their spending and living expenses.

There is more emphasis on clothes and stylishness here than there is on the Quaker campus. Because of warm California weather, everyday school dress is more "casual".

My semester at Howard has proven very worthwhile and enjoyable. Even though the student body is large, I feel that there is friendliness and congeniality on the campus. I've made many friends, and have shared ideas, thoughts, and experiences with them. This has been a broadening experience, one that I'm sure will remain a part of me for many years to come.

Any freshman or sophomore who is interested in the exchange program is urged to apply for the program soon. If any of you have questions please ask the present exchange students about their respective schools.

Exchange Program Is Key to Growth In Experience and Participation

Ibadan, Western Nigeria

Dear Editor:

I am, indeed, grateful to Leonard Brown for sending me recent editions of the HILLTOP, as well as other Howard University publications. My students have been thoroughly stimulated and have enjoyed getting acquainted with student activities at Howard.

I am a 1955 graduate of the School of Liberal Arts, Department of History, and presently in West Africa teaching on a Fulbright Scholarship sponsored by the International Education Exchange Service.

Again thanks to Leonard Brown.

Kenneth R. Hennant

As an added phase of presenting to Howard University students the opportunity for broadening their education and experiences, the Student Exchange Program was established. Under the leadership of Dr. Paul Lawrence, former assistant counselor of the College of Liberal Arts, 8 to 10 years ago, this program was started. Its purpose it to provide the opportunity for Howard University students to spend at least a semester in a comparable college situation. This program gives a broader perspective to the exchange student who is subjected to a different geographic, intellectual, economic, social and academic environment. Not only does the exchange student benefit from this program, but the schools concerned have the opportunity to include as temporary students, individuals of different backgrounds and experiences. The Howard U family as well as the participating school become known by the parents, friends, and committees from which these students come.

Certain safeguards are adhered to in carrying out this program. First, the exchange is made only in the student's junior year; it is in this year that the student has completed the general education requirements. Secondly, a "B" average is required; rarely is a student selected who fails to meet

The Joint Army and Air Force ROTC Ball was held Friday night, April 17th in the Ballroom of Hotel 2400. The affair was attended by many of the faculty members and friends of the Army and Air Force in the area.

Highlights of the evening were the crowning of the new ROTC queen, Miss Judith Bush, and the presentation of flowers and words of thanks to the retiring queen.

Book Reviews Planned By Dorm Culture Group

A Poetry Reading featuring Mr. Owen Dodson of the Howard University Drama Department as speaker was presented at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 20, 1959, in Baldwin Hall Lounge. A co-educational audience heard Mr. Dodson read and review his poems, after which a discussion period was held and refreshments were served.

A series of book reviews has been planned by the committee for presentation this semester. One of these reviews by Professor Philip Wooby on his book, Nude to the Meaning of Tomorrow has already been given. The Poetry Reading was presented as an "extra" in connection with this series.

Pharmacists Visit N.Y. Pharmaceutical Lab

The Junior and Senior classes of the College of Pharmacy were the guests of the New York branch of E. R. Squibbs and Sons Laboratories last month. Accompanying the group were faculty members Dr. Roy C. Darlington, Dr. Theodore Zalucky, Mr. James N. Tyson and Dr. Amrutal Shaw.

The group was received at the Hotel Abbey in New York, by a representative of Squibbs Laboratories and immediately taken on a tour of the United Nations Building. The rest of the day was replete with entertainment taking in a dinner at the Stockholm, passes to Radio City Music Hall, and a television performance.

The next day, Mr. R. Blue, another representative of the laboratories, greeted and escorted the Howard group to Squibbs' laboratories where they attended a lecture on the manufacturing of drugs and the research necessary for their manufacture, including improvement of older drugs. The rest of the day was spent touring the plant and observing the manufacturing process of penicillin, streptomycin and other antibiotics.

The tour terminated with a banquet for all the visiting students.

Cook Hall Features Science Show Dance

A science show, open house and a hall dance will be features of Cook Hall Day at Howard University, Saturday, May 2.

The science show will be presented from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. by two engineering students, followed by the open house which ends at 6:00 p.m. Dormitory rooms and other building facilities will be open to public inspection. "Miss Cook Hall" will be crowned at the Hall dance Saturday evening.

Demonstrations in jet propulsion, induction heating and lighting, and stereophonic sound will be given at the science show which will be presented by two residents of the building. They are Horace Hillsman, son of Mrs. Annie M. Hillsman, 410 Glen Iris Drive, Northeast, Atlanta, Ga., and Waldo Berry, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Berry, 23 Young Street, Ormond Beach, Florida. Both are sophomores in the School of Engineering and Architecture.

Co-Ed Awards Banquet

60 Men Cited: Hillman Receives C. H. Service Award

by Evelyn S. Freeman

Highlighting a very successful year for the residents of Cook Hall was a co-ed Awards Banquet held in Baldwin Hall cafeteria on Wednesday, April 15, 1959, at 6:00 p.m.

Lascelles Anderson, President of the Cook Hall Council, served as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion, and guest speaker was William Gardner, English instructor. Mr. Gardner challenged everyone to beware of the power of speech. "Great speakers make people do things. A great leader must be able to kindle fires, must be able to speak."

Raymond Butler, secretary of Cook Hall Council, gave the report of Cook Hall activities for 1958-59, emphasizing the fact that the program of the residence hall was and is geared to the overall program of the University.

Awards were given for academic achievement, communicative arts participation, intra-mural and varsity athletics, student government participation, music ability, and program participation. These awards were received by more than 60 men who were deemed outstanding in one or more of the fields mentioned.

The Cook Hall Service Award was awarded by Dean Henry Ryan to Horace Hillsman, a student in the College of Engineering and Architecture.

Dr. Mordecai Johnson, one of the guests at the banquet, remarked as to how deeply impressed and inspired he was to be present at such an occasion where young men gathered to recognize outstanding achievement performed by their peers.

General chairman for this affair was David Billings, who was assisted by Eugene Riddick, Finance; Morris O'Kelly, Program; Arnold Johnson, Hosts; Carmond White, Publicity; Horace Hillsman, Technical Assistant; Rodney Coleman, Decorations.

Citizenship Project Group Visit Md. Legislature

Last month, Dr. Robert E. Martin, director of the Citizenship Project, took a group of about twenty students to visit the Maryland Legislature at Annapolis. While in the State capital, they were the guests of Mrs.

Dixon, a member of the House of Delegates. The group was conducted on a tour which included an interview with Governor Tawes. Lunch was provided the group at the nearby Carvel Hall.

The afternoon was spent visiting various officials of both the Senate and the House of Delegates, watching debate on the floors of both houses and attending committee meetings. The students were especially interested in a Bill of Apportionment which would increase the number of districts in Baltimore city. They had the ramifications of the bill explained to them by Senator Gallaghen, who is introducing a bill of his own.

EXAMPLE OF RESISTANCE TO CENTRALIZATION OF POW.

Castro Officers Give Students Insight Into Cuban Revolution

By James T. Dixon

Washington, D.C., April 17th. Dr. Allan Taylor, teacher of Social Science, brought to the Howard Community two ranking officers in Fidel Castro's Army.

The purpose of the visit was to provide the students with an example of resistance to centralization of power which was the major topic of the class discussion.

Major Ramon Guin, Lieutenant Emilio Gomez, and Mr. Julian Rodriguez, the interpreter, appeared outside of Quonset Hut No. 2 at the 11:00 Social Science class.

Dr. Taylor has two cousins in Cuba who were boyhood friends of Castro and who fought in the revolution with him.

The following is an excerpt from the proceedings.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—What is the purpose of your visit here?

A—We were invited by the press on a friendly visit to the public.

Q—Where will you go from here before returning to Cuba?

A—New York.

Q—How did the revolution start?

A—Fidel Castro was the leader of a group of students at the University of Havana. Incidentally, the first person killed was a person named Batista.

Q—How long did it take to organize?

A—About 7 years. Fidel Castro initiated this plan on the 10th of March, 1952.

Q—How did Castro get his weapons?

A—The arms were American weapons which were supposed to be delivered to Batista but we took them. At first we used everything we got our hands on — sticks or shotguns.

Q—How did Castro finance the revolution?

A—The poor people made contributions; bonds were issued to the revolutionary group, and also here in New York and Miami.

Q—What will the present government be like?

A—It will be democratic. We will go back to the 1940 Constitution and also will conduct free elections within two years.

Q—Was Castro self-appointed or backed by popularity?

A—No, he was not self-appointed.

Q—How did Batista ever come to power?

A—He was backed by the Army. Also, he controlled the press and a large part of the big businesses.

Q—What were some of the reasons why Castro wanted to overthrow Batista?

A—Batista and his men were torturers. They killed infants, men, women, and children, which amounted to 20,000. They also robbed the people of $12,000,000 while he was in power.

Q—What is going to be done about the people who are still pro-Batista?

A—We intend to capture them and give them a fair trial. If they are found guilty they will be sentenced.

Q—What will be the effect of the revolution on dictatorship in the Latin American countries?

A—This will be an example to other lands.

Q—What is Castro's interest in assisting the people of San Domingo?

"Choir Finest Academic Chorus"; Mitchell

"Well, it's certainly been a pleasure working with you this morning. I still hold that you are the finest academic chorus in the Country; indeed, you are the finest of any type choral group I've heard anywhere. I want to thank you and your dean for the wonderful preparation you have made for the concert. I know we won't have any trouble with the work tonight." Those words by Dr. Howard Mitchell, famed conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, accompanied by a firm applause from the members of the large Orchestra, concluded the final rehearsal for the Howard Choir's concert on April 7th at Constitution Hall. At the Hall that night, Dean Warner Lawson, director of the Choir and Dr. Mitchell combined their two noted organizations to present Brahms' "A Song of Destiny" and Verdi's "Requiem Mass" in a concert of the highest quality. The program, the final concert for this season, was repeated on April 8th.

Critics Applaud

Present at the concert were three of Washington's most severe music critics. The following are excerpts concerning the Howard University Choir from their reviews:

Day Thorpe, The Evening Star April 8.

"... The Verdi Requiem showed superb concert skill; it was given a noble performance last night by the Howard University Choir, the National Symphony Orchestra, and a four-some of distinguished soloists... Dr. Mitchell's reading of the Requiem seemed in perfect accord with the work and he presented the masterpiece in all its color and appealing emotionalism that has made it one of the universally esteemed choral favorites... the Howard University Choir was excellent, rich and warm in tone, sure of its attacks, and of a suppleness and clarity which belied its great size..."

Sustained Quality

Paul Hume, The Washington Post and Times Herald, April 8.

"... The Howard University Choir was superbly trained for the Concert by Warner Lawson... they presented a beautifully sensitized and warm account of the Brahms' 'Song of Destiny' which preceded the 'Requiem'...

"... Mitchell's concept of the 'Requiem' is thoroughly sound at every point... the Orchestra and Choir joined in several fine passages of true pianissimo and in awesome moments such as 'Quantus tremor,' there was a marvelous effect... The Howard Choir had the music in its voices and in its spirit. They were ready for every attack and sustained in quality in the more restrained lines..."

Milton Berliner, Washington Daily News, April 8

"... The Constitution Hall concert series season ended on a potent note last night... the highly dramatic work found the singing of the soloists... the great Howard University Choir choral work in the "Libera Me" giving one of its most moving performances balanced by an alert orchestra and the superb (Continued on Page 7, Col. 4)

Faye Smith

Co-eds Win Summer Scholarship Abroad

Brenda Lawson and Faye Smith will spend this summer in Europe. They have been awarded Experiment in International Living scholarships, the Experiment Committee announced recently. Brenda and Faye were selected from among four finalists.

Miss Lawson is an English Major. She is vice-president of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, co-chairman of the Civic Committee of the Women's League, and treasurer of the D.C. chapter of the Student National Education Association. She served as chairman of the 1958-59 Campus Pals.

Gandhi Memorial Lectures Inaugurated

The Honorable Chester Bowles, United States Congressman from Connecticut, will inaugurate the annual Gandhi Memorial Lectures at Howard University on Tuesday, May 5, 1959 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Biology Building, located on College Street, N.W. on the University campus.

Mr. Bowles' subject will be "What America Can Learn From Gandhi."

The Gandhi Memorial Lectures at Howard University have been made possible by a grant from the Taraknath Das Foundation of New York City. The general aim of the Foundation is to promote human welfare and friendly relations and cultural cooperation among nations. It has attempted to realize these aims by endowing a series of annual lectures on Asian topics at various American universities and by making awards and loans to students engaged in Asian studies.

In the Washington area, the Foundation has been sponsoring for some time annual lectures on Asian topics at the American University and at the University of Virginia. Other lecture and student award programs are conducted at universities in the states of New York, Iowa, and Michigan. Branches of the Foundation have been established in India, Israel, and West Germany to promote cultural cooperation.

Dr. Taraknath Das died in New York City on December 22, 1958.

The death of Dr. Das at the age of 74 terminated a courageous and inspiring career dedicated to the achievement of Indian independence and the promotion of better understanding between Asia and the United States.

Dr. Das' colleagues and friends are uniting throughout the country to carry out the aims of his Foundation as a personal tribute to him and in recognition of the importance of continuing the cultural work of the Foundation which began in 1935.

Why did
14,436
sophomores enter advanced
during 1958?

Many more applied. Not all were accepted. In more than 200 U. S. colleges, 14,436 college sophomores met the high standards set. These students were selected to continue officer training in the advanced R.O.T.C. course. Why did each of these young men decide that he would benefit by fulfilling his military obligation as an Army officer? Here are two important reasons. Perhaps they'll help you make your decision.

1...TRADITIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES

As an Army officer, you're in command of men. More men than the number supervised by many civilian executives years older than yourself. To meet your command responsibilities, you employ a great many of the LEADERSHIP principles acquired in advanced R.O.T.C. training. And your executive potential develops while you gather LEADERSHIP experience. The executive ability you gain as an Army officer will be an important advantage in any civilian career. That's why employment directors often prefer men who have served as commissioned officers. These men have already proven their capacity to handle executive responsibility.

2...TRADITIONAL REWARDS

In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. The traditional prestige of an Army officer is matched by material advantages. A second lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.88 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits. Think you might want to marry soon after graduation? An officer's salary can make things a great deal easier for a married couple just starting out. What's more, an Army officer is entitled to take his dependents with him, wherever possible. Imagine sharing the fun of travel with your wife—in the United States or foreign countries like France, Germany or Japan.

BOWEN, CRICKET CAPTAIN

The Bison cricket team is scheduled to play its first road game May 28nd at University Park, against Pennsylvania State University. The scheduled session opener against the Staten Island (N.Y.) cricket club which was to have been played at Howard Stadium on April 18th will be played at a later date, in New York.

The team, coached by Bison athletic director Dr. Samuel Barnes, was undefeated during the 1958 season. Keith Bowen, a Barbados W.I. Fed. native, is the team captain.

GOLF TEAM UNDEFEATED

Coach Tom Hart's golfers downed Gallaudet at East Potomac Park on April 15th. The Howardites defeated their sister school by a score of 9-1. Captained by Moss Kendrix, the Bisons rained the season records of D.C. Teachers College (April 9) and arch rival Lincoln University (April 13).

NETMEN OPEN SEASON ON SOUTHERN TOUR

by Florence Burton

Howard University's tennis team opened its season on March 24th, on a southern tour along with the baseball team, with a 7-2 defeat at the hands of N. Carolina College at Durham. The match scheduled with Moorehouse on the 25th was canceled due to the unpreparedness of both their team and court. On the 26th we defeated Tuskegee Institute in a 2 1-2 - 1-2 victory at Tuskegee, Alabama.

The Bisons placed 3rd in the Florida A. & M. Tournament at St. Petersburg. CIAA champion, Charlie Rogers, reached the semi-finals, but was defeated in 3 sets by Brooks of F.A.M.U.; who won the singles title. Howard's doubles team, Rogers and Bray, were defeated in the semi-finals, losing in 3 sets to Moore and Churchwell of Tenn. State.

The game scheduled with St. Augustine College was rained out. The matches with Morgan on the 11th and 13th have been canceled until April 20th. Bison's netmen defeated Drew on the 17th and lost to N. Carolina College on the 18th, 6-3.

These are the standings as of April 20th. Under the able leadership of Coach Herman Tyrance. The team is expected to be paced, for the remainder of the season by Charlie Rogers, a senior, and captain of the team; Bill Sprague, a sophomore; and Don Bray, a freshman and an up-and-coming player.

Other players are:

Seniors: Everett Barber, Don Smith;

Sophomores: Al Cottman;

Freshmen: Dervin Brown, Ronnie Burrell, Wilber Callender, Derry Galbreath, Reggie Locke, Alvin Nemhard.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE; COACH WHITE OPTIMISTIC

Howard University's football coach, Bob White, appeared optimistic as the Bisons entered their third week of Spring football drill. On hand were 65 men, including 26 returnees from the 1958 team. The returning players are: backs—Crawford Ellerbe, Charles Smith, Tod Hillman, Ben Brent, Al Gaskill, Dan Jackson, Bill Cobb, Jerry Danoff, Otto Beatty, Leon Armour, Arnold Johnson, and Early Blount; guards—Ken Hanson, Ed Peeples, Simon Dixon, Sterling Parker, and Arthur Waller; tackles—Sidney Banks, Reggie Taylor, Don Van Purnell, Don Stevenson, and Dave Means; centers—Henry Ingram and Ray Johnson; and ends—Bernie Quarterman and Frank Chichester. Coach White's optimistic outlook was based on the fact that if the returnees from last season are eligible in the fall the team should show improvement and show well against its 1959 opponents.

According to coach White, several of the new men have also shown well in the practices. They are halfbacks John Ware and John Womble; fullback Gene Johnson and quarterback Jim Westbrook. Practice sessions are held from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday thru Friday in the Howard Stadium. The stress has been placed on new offensive patterns, punt and kick-off returns, and new defensive patterns.

1959 CO-CAPTAINS NAMED

Quarterback Charles Smith and End Bernard Quarterman have been named co-captains of the 1959 Howard football team.
